VOLUME 11 — MENLO PARK, SAN MATEO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1933 — No. 7

County Publisher Passes To Reward

Horace W. Amphlett, 43 years old, editor and publisher of the San Mateo Times, and the county's outstanding civic leader, died in his sleep at the Sir Francis Drake hotel in San Francisco Wednesday morning.

His death was discovered when his secretary at the Times office called him a 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in accordance with his instructions the nght before. When he failed to answer the telephone the assistant manager of the hotel sent a maid to investigate. She found him dead.

The hotel management called Dr. L. J. Stookey, of San Francisco, who announced that death had probably occurred three hours previously and was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Amphlett is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eleanor Amphlett, his father, Richard M. Amphlett, and three sisters, Janet Amphlett, Kathleen Amphlett and Mrs. John Hart Clinton.

News of the death of Mr. Amphlett was received with tears and with shocked surprise al over the county. He was personally known to and beloved by nearly everybody in the county and news of his death brought to all a sense of personal loss.

Flags on public building in San Mateo were ordered at half mast, and the two departments of the superior court adjourned immediately out of respect to hismemory. Both Judges McNutt and Swart expressed their grief from the bench and ordered their remarks engrossed in the records of the court.

As a boy in his teens, Mr. Amphlett became assistant postmaster of San Mateo. While thus engaged he became interested in the newspaper business. It was through the outstanding quality of his life, generosity, that he first became active in the business n 1917.

Paul Pinckney, publisher of the old San Mateo Times, then a weekly, was fighting ill health. He looked about among his younger friends. Mr. Amphlett offered his aid, first in general work about the little plant.

The young assistant took over more and more duties, until he was managing circulation, advertising, and a doze nother details.

Pinckney was finally forced to take a long leave of absence. Week after week, reports of the business were made to him by Mr. Amphlett who was working without remuneration.

Finally upon the death of Mr. Pinckney Mr. Amphlett found that the business had been willed to him.

For the next five years, with a regular force composed of Miss Stella Ely, now owners of the News Print Shop at Palo Alto, and L. E. Harris, now publisher of the Menlo Park Recorder, as foreman, Mr. Amphlett began, with the assistance also of his wife, to build the plant that he had at the time of his death.

During the fore part of that first five year, Mr. Amphlett and his force of printers worked long hours and hard to put the business over. He was always considerate of those in his employ, and did little things that most employers overlook for the comfort and welfare of those who were giving their best to assist him with the building of the plant and business.

It was a real pleasure to work for Mr. Amphlett in those early years of his career as a newspaper man and publisher.

L. E. Harris of the Menlo Park Recorder stated today: "I am exceedingly sorrow to hear of the passing of Horace W. Amphlett. The county has lost its most illustrious supporter and a man whose place it will be extremely hard to fill. He was a friend to everybody."

Funeral services will be held for Mr. Amphlett tomorrow (Saturday) at 9:30 in the morning in the Elk's lodgeroom at San Mateo; thence to St. Matthews' Catholic Church where mass will be celebrated for the repose of his soul, commencing at 10:30 o'clock.

Entombment will follow in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Bear Gulch Water Comyany Eliminates Cross Connections

During the past few years the subject of cross connections in water supply systems has been much discussed by health officers. Many state health departments have adopted rules, either prohibiting cross connections to private water supplies, or regulating their installation and mantenance. In some cities local municipal ordinances or rules have been adopted.

A cross connection, as defined by the California State Department of Public Health, is a connection whereby a potable water supply system is connected with another water supply system in such a manner that a flow of water into the potable supply is possible there from, either directly through the manipulation of gate valves or because of ineffective check or back pressure valves.

Probably the principal reason for cross connections is the importance of guarding against the failure of a private supply at time of fire. Another important reason is the desire for econoy in irrigation and upkeep of gardens with the use of private wells.

The principal objection to cross connections is that numerous epidemics of disease have been traced to them. A study on typhoid fever outbreaks between 1920-1930 disclosed the fact that unprotected cross connections rated first in the number of outbreaks of typhoid fever and fourth in the number of dysentery cases.

In addition to the health standpoint ,there is a legal responsibility for both the water companies and the consumer. The courts in both the United States and Canada are increasingly holding cities heavy financial damages for illness or death resulting from pollution of public supplies.

In the past several months the Bear Gulch Water Company has been carrying on an extensive program to eliminate all cross connections from its system, in compliance with the regulations of the State Department of Health. A house to house inspection was made in order to locate all possible sources of contamination and the findings are as follows:

Out of 204 private well supplies investigated, 71 were found to be actively cross connected and 47 inactive, due to previous discontinuance of either the well supply or Company supply. Of the balance, 76 supplies were found separated from the public supply by separate piping or overhead discharge at storage tank and 10 wells were found under contsruction. Also investigated were 31 swimming pools, with 29 of them so connected that it would be possible, under certain conditions, to drain or pump water from the pool into the public supply.

The prompt attention by consumers in making the necessary changes in their piping to eliminate any danger of polluting the public water supply t evidence of their sincere desire to maintain the health standard in this localty as one of the best n the country.

The Central Valley Water Project Folly

The Central Valley Project, which some misguided enthuiasts seek to force down the some throats of the voters of California, seems to be little short of economic folly

California is asked a new debt of $170,000,000 for the professed purpose of bringing water to some 200,000 acres of parched land in the southern San Joaquin Valley and making additional irrigation supplies available to the farmers of the Sacramento Valley.

If this were the true purpose of the project, such a great expenditure would have to be justified by the financial gains which would accrue to the agriculturists and to business generally. No such justification can be found.

California today is sufering from over-production, especially of those crops grown intensively under irrigation. The farmer who has a plentiful supply of water, good land, and the most favorable conditions, cannot make a living wage from the prices paid him for his produce. Because the market could not absorb all the State produced, some 835,000 acres were taken out of cultivation in 1931 and the process of contracting the total of crop lands has been proceeding ever since.

The NationaRecovery Adminlstration is using heroic measures to restore the balance between supply and demand. It is paying farmers a bonus to ploy under growing crops and to reduce the planting of new crops. None but the blnd optmst expects these steps to be effective over night. It may be many years before the State's present excess of irrigable farm lannd can be profitably employed.

Under these conditions it is sheer business recklessness to invest $170,000,000 at th's time to increase the amount of irrigated land or even to maintain in cultivation land which is gradually losing its water supply. This is count number one of the indictment against the Central Valley Project.

A second count involves a sim'lar defiance of economic conditions in the production of electric power.

Power houses proposed to be built at the Kennett and Frant Dams are designed to generate 1.6 billion kilowatt hours of electricenergy annually. This is nearly one-fifth of the total consumption of power within the State today. Of course the promoters have no assurance of being able to sell additional power. The power companies report that the demand for power has so diminished that today more than one-fourth of the productive capacity of existing plants within the State is unused. There is a market for less than 75 percent of the electric energy which COULD be generated. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company reports it has at this time ten or more plants standing idle.

And the present oversupply will be more than doubled in 1936 when 4.3 billions of kilowatt hours of power will begin flowing into Southern California from Boulder Dam under contracts already signed.

In the face of these facts, the promoters of the Central Valley Project rely upon income from the sale of power to carry on the larger part of the cost of Kennett Dam and all the other units of the far flung scheme.

This is count number two; that the conditions of the power market today and for at least ten years to come is conclusive proof that the investment of $170,000,000 or any part of that sum for the production of hydro electric power would be unsound and unjustified.

The people of this State will not knowingly assume a liability of $170,000,000 and endow a group of five State officials with almost unlimited authority to spend unlimited additional mllions, to plunge the commonwealth into the water and power business on this insecure and uneconomic basis.

The Apache Friendly Indians of Washington School of Redwood City in the last few minutes of play by pushing over for a touchdown after the Algonquins had held the lead from the first few minutes of the game when they sprung a surprise with a long forward pass which netted them a touchdown. The final score was 6 to 6.

The Sioux Friendly Indians of Lincoln School were defeated by the Iroquois Friendly Indians of McKinlay School of Redwood City by a score of 26 to 0. The Sioux were considerably outweighed by the Iroquo's who had little trouble in getting through for long yardage.

The Algonquins and Iroquois played a second short game in which the former won 8 to 6 in a tightly contested game.

Roy A. Hohberger, the local Y. M. C. A. Secretary was in charge of the play in which close to 150 boys participated.

COMMUNICATION RECEIVED FROM SEATTLE INVALID

The followng communication has been received at this office from Bonnie Hamblet of Seattle, who is trying to locate relatives in this district. Any who can furnish information for her will please write her direct or communicate with the Menlo Park Recorder and the same will be forwarded at once.—Editor.

Seattle, Wash, Nov 20, 1933.

Would you send me one of your papers. If it is a weekly, could you send me a copy each week for a month or so, if I send you money.

I am a helpless invalid, and trying to find some of my people who live some where in California. Have not seen them for years. Do you print any little society news from Atherton. They are quite wealthy people, and I might find them among the ladies who entertain. I have tried all the big cities, so thought I would try the small ones. Who are the leading society ladies in Atherton and Menlo Park?

Is there any man in Menlo Park or Maybe in Redwood City that might do some private detective work for me, if I paid him? There is no trouble about this, at all, I just am trying so hard to find some of my own people, who were separated from me when I was just a child.

I will sincerely thank you for this attention.

Do people living at Atherton get their mail there or at Redwood City There don't seem to be any P. O. at Atherton.

Sincerely thanking you and will greatly appreciate your kindness,

BONNIE HAMBLET,

City Bond Election Postponed---May Not Be Necessary

As the Recorder goes to press word comes from Washington that the government is considering the making of loans on the lease plan as the city was trying to get the $20,000 for the construction of a new city hall. With the receipt of this information the city council stopped publication of the ordinance calling for the election, and likewise work on the ballots for the election.

This should be welcome news to local residents as to date the city of Menlo Park has no bonded indebtedness, and from the look of things it will not be necessary to incur one for the new city hall building.

Everyone admits that a city hall building is a necessity, and that the proper housing of the various officers, the library and the providing a place for the detention of city prisoners should be attended to at once. A city hall is the only solution.

When the city library was moved to the city hall there was no end of complaint about the matter owing to the fact that he children were often in the hall when prisoners were brought in, and it turly was no sight for them to see.

The prospects now look good for a municipal building, with no bonds to worry about, our Uncle Sam putting up the money, and being paid back over a period of thirty years.

Christmas Greens

"THE time has come for Christmas greens
And gifts and bells and merry scenes
When we are gathered 'round the board
And there is plenty—thank the Lord!"

Christmas greens! Here's a way to combine some of their color with the festive pink of salmon in a royal dish.

Sautéed Salmon Slices with Creamed Peas: Add one-half teaspoon salt to one and one-half cups boiling water, add one-half cup cornmeal, and cook until thick. Add half the contents of a tall can of salmon, salt and pepper to taste, and a few drops of lemon juice. Place in a greased loaf pan, and let chill. Cut in slices, dip in fine crumbs and sauté in fat until a nice brown. Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour and one and one-half cups diluted evaporated milk, season to taste, and add the contents of an 8-ounce can of peas. Serve with this sauce poured over the slices. Serves four.

A Delectable Dish

And here's a delectable dish with green peas in it:

Southern Peas and Onions: Clean one bunch of young onions, and cut off the tops. Then split them lengthwise, and add them with one slice of bacon to half the contents of a No. 2 can of peas. Add three-fourths cup boiling water, and boil until onions are tender. Add more water if necessary. The liquid should be cooked almost away. Remove bacon, season to taste with salt and pepper and serve. Serves four.

Final Whist Party December Eighth

Next Friday evening the Menlo Park Fire Department will give the last of its series of three Turkey Whist Parties for the benefit of the unemployed in this district. The boys under the able direction of Fire Chief Thomas Cuff, have worked hard to put these parties over and first two were very successful. Twenty turkeys and numerous other prizes are given for the high scorse at each game, and as an added attraction next Friday night a grand prize of $10 will be given to the holder of the highest score for the three games of the series.

It is to be hoped that all of the card fans will turn out next Friday evening for the final game. The fact that the fire boys are giving the party is assurance enough that it will be a success, and that a good time will be had by all in attendance.

The blazing main was extinguished by the Menlo Park Fire Department. No damage was done.

LOCAL PEOPLE ADMITTER TO CITIZENSHIP

Among the twenty-six county residents who were granted their citizeenship papers were the following from this locality:

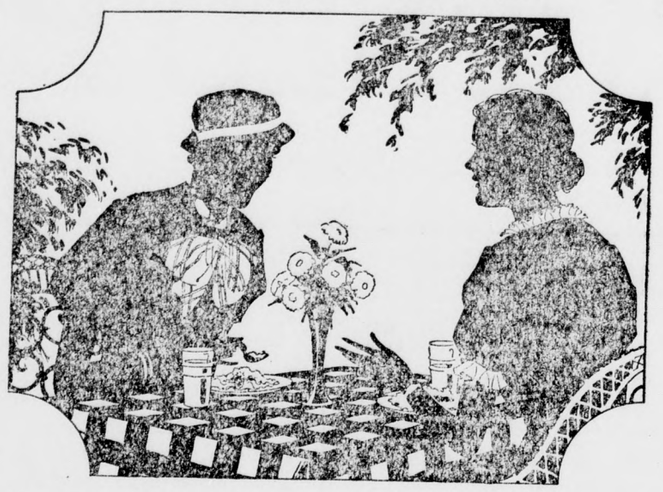
The Menlo Park Recorder has an exceptionally fine line of Christmas cards on display and will be able to supply them on short notice and at reasonable prices if the orders are received before the stock is exhausted.

Unusual Salads



IT is difficult to devise a new salad, so all the old ones are served over and over again. Have you ever thought of using corn in your salads? It can be done, and it provides a filling dish against the first chill days of fall. Here are some recipes for such salads which will help you to vary this part of the meal.

These Are Different

Corn Salad: Marinate the contents of a 12-ounce can of whole kernel corn and one-half cup of grated or finely chopped raw carrot in one-third cup French dressing for an hour or so in the refrigerator. Add one-third cup shredded ripe olives, and serve in a nest of lettuce. Serves eight.

Corn and Pepper Salad: Drain one No. 2 can of whole grain corn, add one-half a green pepper and one pimiento, diced, season with salt and pepper, and marinate in one-fourth cup French dressing in the refrigerator until very cold. Serve on lettuce leaves. Serves six.

Corn Shock Salad: Thrust three or four canned asparagus tips through a ring of green pepper, then arrange them to stand upright in a lettuce leaf, to resemble a shock of corn. Garnish around base with mayonnaise, and here and there place tiny pickled ears of corn. Have all the ingredients very cold.*

ELECTRIC and GAS SERVICE come so easily that it is natural to take the ever present supply for granted.

It is there, right at your hand, the instant you want it.

Isn't it true that you rarely think of what stands behind the button or the valve?

Yet a great and intricate system of power houses and power lines, of gas mains and distributing pipes, representing more than $700,000,000 of investment, has been built just to put that easy, dependable service at your finger tips.

That is an enormous investment, but it is not any one man's money, nor the money of any score of men. More than 90,000 persons, 70,000 of them living in California, have put their savings into this business.

They are just the average run of folks, industrious, thrifty, many of them depending upon their dividends for their living.

These dividends are like pay checks. They go to pay the grocer, the baker, the candlestick maker; they help to keep things going in every community and in every line of business.

Also it takes a regular army of workers to make sure you have that service. P. G. and E. employs 10,600 men and women. They make their homes in every part of Northern and Central California.

Their wages amounting this year to more than 15 million dollars, flow into stores, factories, homes, theaters, quickening business and stimulating trade in more than 600 cities and towns.

Our service goes to 1,250,000 customers. It is always the best service that a faithful and conscientious organization can give.

Mrs. Leora Butler will open a Clothing and Novelty Shop in this cittiy tomorrow morning. The new store is located in the New Duff Building on the Highway, between Santa Cruz and Oak Grove avenues.

She will carry a fine line of men's furnishings, a line which is badly needed in this city, in addition to she will also stock a good line of ladies' wearing apparel, and the prices on both lines will be as low as is consistent with the quality of the goods offered.

On the opening day a full line of Holiday novelties will also be on the shelves for inspection by the public.

It is quite a satisfaction to the residents of this city to known that now there is a men's furnishing store in Menlo Park, and it goes without saying that the patronage will be good.

Mrs. Butler has had a wide experience along these lines and is giving it freely to local patrons.

Call in tomorrow (Saturday) and look her stock over, and give a cheerful words of encouragement to Menlo Park's newest store.

Drinks For The Holidays

IT is practically certain that next month we shall be legally drinking anything alcoholic that we want and can afford, but merely because we are going to regain that privilege there is no reason why we should plunge up to our necks in alcoholic drinks. In fact there is every reason why we should not abuse the privilege, especially since there are so many good drinks we can enjoy without any alcoholic content.

For the benefit of hostesses who expect to give parties for young people during the coming holidays, and of those who prefer not to drink alcohol themselves, however they voted about the Eighteenth Amendment, here are some royal, thirst-quenching drinks which look and taste as good as any drinks can. There are, for instance, these delicious

Pineapple Drinks

Eastern Punch: Chop one-half cup raisins and one-quarter tablespoon preserved ginger, add two cups water and boil ten minutes, then strain. Add one-half cup sugar, and cool. Add one-half cup lemon juice, the contents of a No. 2 can of Hawaiian pineapple juice and one pint bottle of charged water, and pour over a block of ice. This makes one and a half quarts, or fills twelve punch glasses.

Fruit Flip: Boil seven-eighths cup sugar, one cup orange juice and one orange rind cut in thin strips for five minutes, then cool. Add one and one-half cups strong cold tea, two tablespoons lemon juice and the contents of a No. 2 can of Hawaiian pineapple juice. Serve over cubes of frozen ginger ale or ice. This makes one quart, or fills eight punch glasses.

Pink Lady: Boil one-fourth cup sugar in one-half cup water for about three minutes, and cool. Add one-half cup bottled raspberry syrup, two tablespoons lemon juice, the contents of a No. 2 can of Hawaiian pineapple juice and one pint bottle charged water.

Holiday Punches

Hot Rum Punch: Combine six cups cider, one-half cup honey, one cup canned pineapple syrup, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon ginger and the rind of one lemon. The last ingredient should be thinly pared, using only the yellow part. Simmer fifteen minutes, strain into a punch bowl and add six tablespoons rum extract. Float several small pickled crabapples in the punch. This makes twelve small cups.

The New Year Egg-Nog: Beat four egg yolks until thick, add one-half cup sugar and one-third cup brandy extract. Add two cups evaporated milk and two cups water, combined, and then fold in four stiffly-beaten egg whites. Sprinkle nutmeg on top. Have cold. Makes twelve small cups.

New Year's Eve Punch: Mash two bananas and add two cups canned pineapple syrup, one cup evaporated milk, two tablespoons fresh lime juice, one-half cup orange juice and one-half cup crushed pineapple. Shake well with crushed ice. This makes five tall glasses or ten cups.

Hot Christmas Punches

Holiday Stein: Mix one gallon sweet cider, one and one-half pounds brown sugar, a six-inch stick cinnamon, one tablespoon whole cloves, one juice whole mace, one-half teaspoon salt and two tablespoons crystallized ginger, and simmer ten minutes. Strain. Add the contents of two 10-ounce cans grapefruit juice and one-half cup orange juice, and reheat but do not boil. Serve steaming hot in earthenware steins or mugs. Makes four quarts.

Spiced Hot Punch: Boil for five minutes one quart water, a three-inch piece cinnamon, one teaspoon whole cloves and one teaspoon allspice, and then strain. Add honey to taste. Add two cups syrup from canned pineapple, and reheat. Beat eggs well, allowing one-half egg to each glass to be served. Divide the eggs among the glasses, and pour the hot punch in, stirring well. Serve at once. This makes approximately one and a quarter to one and a half quarts.
